Overview

The Report Release Schedule outlines the planned release dates for upcoming reports and associated deliverables. The timeline has been developed to support timely stakeholder review, decision-making, and operational planning. Key information is provided for each report, including the report name, data period covered, projected release date, and update frequency. It also identifies where the report is made available or originates, including EdSight Public, EdSight Secure, or an external vendor. In addition, the schedule documents the primary data source used in report development and includes notes regarding report content, methodology, assumptions, dependencies, and other relevant considerations. The report interface is organized into two tabs: a “Quick Search” for streamlined navigation of key information and an “Advanced Search” that provides additional filtering and more detailed exploration of reports.

How to Use this Report

The Report Release Schedule is organized into two tabs: Quick Search and Advanced Search. Each tab provides a different way to locate and explore report information depending on user needs.

Quick Search tab

The Quick Search tab (see #1 below) provides a streamlined view of key report information and supports easy navigation through commonly used tools. It includes three distinct views that display report releases in the previous, current, and upcoming months (see #2 below), as well as a “Search for a Report” option that allows users to search for reports by name, keyword, or topic (see #3 below). Report names are linked directly to the corresponding online report or login page, where applicable.

Inclusion/Exclusion Rules

The Report Release Schedule provides a forward-looking view of reports that are currently active and scheduled for release. It includes reports that are regularly produced and maintained by CSDE or an approved external vendor, along with associated information such as projected release dates, update frequencies, report locations, data sources, and relevant notes. Historical release schedules, archived reports, retired reports, and previously published release date information are excluded. The schedule also excludes one-time analyses, ad hoc requests, and other deliverables that do not have an established or recurring release schedule.

Terms/Definitions

- Data Period: The time period represented by the data included in the report, which may differ from the report's release date. For example, a report released in September 2026 may present data collected during the 2025–26 school year.
- Projected Release Date: The anticipated date on which a report is expected to be published or made available to users. Projected release dates are estimates based on current schedules and available information and may change due to data availability, review processes, system updates, or other operational considerations. For example, a report with a projected release date of October 15 may be released earlier or later if development, validation, or approval activities require additional time.
- Update Frequency: The regular interval at which a report is updated or published with new data. This indicates how often the report is refreshed to reflect the most current available information, values include Daily (updated every day), Weekly (updated once per week), and Annually (updated once per year)
- Location: The system or platform where a report is made available or originates. This identifies where users can access the report, such as EdSight Public, EdSight Secure, or an external vendor site. For example, a report listed as being in EdSight Secure is only accessible to authorized users, while a report in EdSight Public is available to all users
- Data Source: The system, dataset, or collection of datasets used to produce a report. This identifies where the underlying data originates. For example, a report may include CSDE internal systems and/or external vendor-provided datasets.

Source(s) and Update Schedule

Reports included in the Report Release Schedule are refreshed on an ongoing basis using their identified data sources. Each annual reporting cycle begins with a rollover on June 1, at which point reports transition into the new reporting year.

Following the rollover, reports are updated periodically throughout the year as new or revised data become available. The timing of updates is dependent on data availability, validation processes, and the report's established update frequency.
